CITY MISSION - The Ladies' City Mission of the M. E. Church has been organized about one year. Under their auspices, and through the missionary labors of Rev. Mr. KIRKHAM, much good has already been accomplished. A small society has been formed in the Northeastern part of the city, a Sabbath School is in connection with it, and there are provided the usual services of a regular church.

The present place of worship is a few steps east of St. Patrick's, in an old school house, which was formerly a dwelling house. There are here no conveniences for religious worship, nothing attractive, nothing especially to induce men to come to church.

One thing is certain, there must be a church built, or the mission must go down, and this part of the city be given entirely up to the sway of St. Patrick. The ladies, seeing this, have determined to build the necessary church and they have to look to the liberal public for the means.

The church is to be built on the west side of Cleveland avenue; is to be thirty-five by fifty, and of brick. We have commenced the work, and expect the walls to be up in a few days .-There is not half enough yet subscribed to make it ready for divine service, but we shall go ahead as far as we have money, and trust in God and the liberality of the people to do the rest. This work is one which should interest every one—that from rescuing our city from heathenism on its borders. If any one should like to contribute to this cause (and your contributions will be needed this week), you can leave money or subscription with any of the Methodist preachers of this city, or for me at Randall and Aston's for the trustees. The Ohio Statesman about half-past seven o'clock last evening, a fire broke out in the large and extensive saddle-tree and japan shop of Mr. Perza Hayden, situ-tree and shop DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT THE PENITENTIARY .- AS tree and japan shop of Mr. Petra Hayden, situate on the east side of the Penitentiary grounds.

The steam fire-engines were promptly on the ground; but from the dry and inflammable nature of the materials within the building, the efforts of the firemen and citizens could avail but little, except in protecting the adjoining property. For two or three hours, the fire continued to rage, until the building with almost its entire contents was consumed—the bare walls only left standing.

The fire is supposed to have originated from the way contributions are coming in, there will be a large surplus for a l some hames which were being kiln-dried over the boiler. These had caught fire during the afternoon, and such precautions taken that it was thought there was no danger. The nightwatch, on going his rounds, discovered a light in the building, and entering, found that the dry hames had caught, and were burning rapidly. He instantly gave the alarm, but by the time a force was gathered, it was too late to oguize the Southern Confederacy. He would communicate with higher authority for their arrest the progress of the flames.

The loss to the State is small, comparatively, as the building was an old one, and not of great value. But Mr. HAYDEN's loss is heavy, as the shop contained a large amount of valuable material, particularly in the second story, in which was machinery for the manufacture of buckles, for making bullets, etc., and various important and complicated machines, which it will be difficult, if not impossile to replace. We understand that there was made at this establishment over thirty thousand bullets per

He left Price on Wednesday a short distance south of Johnstown, in Bates county, moving southward. He represents that great dissatis-faction exists in Price's army. Desertions occur every day, and if assurances could be conveyed to them that they would not be harshly dealt with, he thinks that the greater part of the State Guard would lay down their arms and the State Guard would lay down their arms and return to their homes. They are tired of the war, and are only prevented from deserting in large bodies by the assurances of their officers that if caught they will be hung as traitors, and by the stories of horribis Union outrages which are industriously circulated among them. The most exaggerated accounts of atrocities committed by our army, the destruction of property, the burning of towns, and ravishment of women, are circulated among them.

Eight or ten other citizens of his county, who belonged to his company, deserted along with him, and are ready to give themselves up.

He has been imprisoned for several weeks in Richmond for the crime of giving shelter to destitute Federal soldiers who were taken prisoners by the ene-my's forces, and applied to him for assistance. His humanity was not to be tolerated among the rebels, and he was made to pay a severe penal-ty. He reports that the rebels at Richmond had indulged in extravagant rejoicing over the attack upon the Wilson Zonaves of New York, at Santa Rosa Island, and claimed that their troops had won a great victory on that occasion. The governing authorities of the rebel camp have had great trouble. Their officers had given trouble in various ways, and ex Secretary Floyd and ex-Governor Wise were fairly in dis-

This P. M., soon after five o'clock, a small ietachment of rebel infantry and a squad of rebel cavalry appeared in view around a house occupied by Widow Childs, about three miles from Miner's Hill. A body of our troops who were out on a foraging expedition, advanced upon them; a sharp skirmish immediately took place, and for a time firing was constant on both sides, when the rebels were driven from the house. One of our men was wounded. It is impossible to learn the rebel loss. Upon its arrival here, the party called upon General McKinstry, and after spending an half hour with him, proceeded in company with him, his staff, and several other gentlemen, to review General McKinstry's division, which is encamped here. At the close of the review, Secretary Cameron made a few well-timed remarks to the troops, expressing the highest gratification at the condition in which he found them and officers should dishurse their funds and not for settlement. He also ordered that disbursing officers should disburse their funds and not the utmost confidence that in the hands of such transfer them to irresponsible persons who do men the honor and success of our country's not hold commissions from the President, and arms were safe.
